

INSURANCE

It is important to remember that your Landlord does not have a responsibility and will not have insurance for your personal items.

This means that if there is a fire or flood at the property OR you are broken into your contents will not be covered.

It is not a requirement of your tenancy to have this insurance but we would strongly recommend it.

In addition to Insuring your own contents, a specialist tenant Insurance policy will give you the option to obtain liability Insurance for your Landlords contents. This means in the event you spill a glass of wine on the carpet you can claim for a replacement, protecting your deposit at the end of your tenancy.

For more information on the cover available and to obtain a competitive quote you can visit our valued partners page.

